

I would expect func3, func4, and func5 to be illegal. If we go by last-dimension-major, with x-y-z representing a 3d array in physical space, it would be like having a 1d array without any open spots in any other direction. It doesn't matter if you have a height of 30 if you don't have any other dimension because you're missing an x or y.