

- 1.) Yes, as any root node will always connect to its child nodes. We can simply replace every node with a vertex and every relationship between nodes with a vertex from parent to child.
- 2.) No, since a DAG may have a cycle which cannot be represented in a tree due to the strict hierarchical structure of trees.